FOREWORD

With a feeling of accomplishment and expectation for the future, yet with regret, we the Class of 1951 prepare to depart from this our school. Thus, we pause here in the Present to publish this 1951 SPIDER WEB to enfold for us within these covers our memories of the years spent in work and play in Concord High School, with the hope that our Future will be as rich and full as the Past.

May you another wonderful year at
C.H.S. Hope to see you
next year. Sybil Burleyson

MRS. FRANK AUSTIN

Dedication

In honor of MRS. FRANK AUSTIN

Because of her sincere interest in the trivial as well as important things we undertook . . .

Because of her friendship, the memory of which will warm our hearts long after we leave this school . . .

Because she was always willing to enjoy good times with us . . .

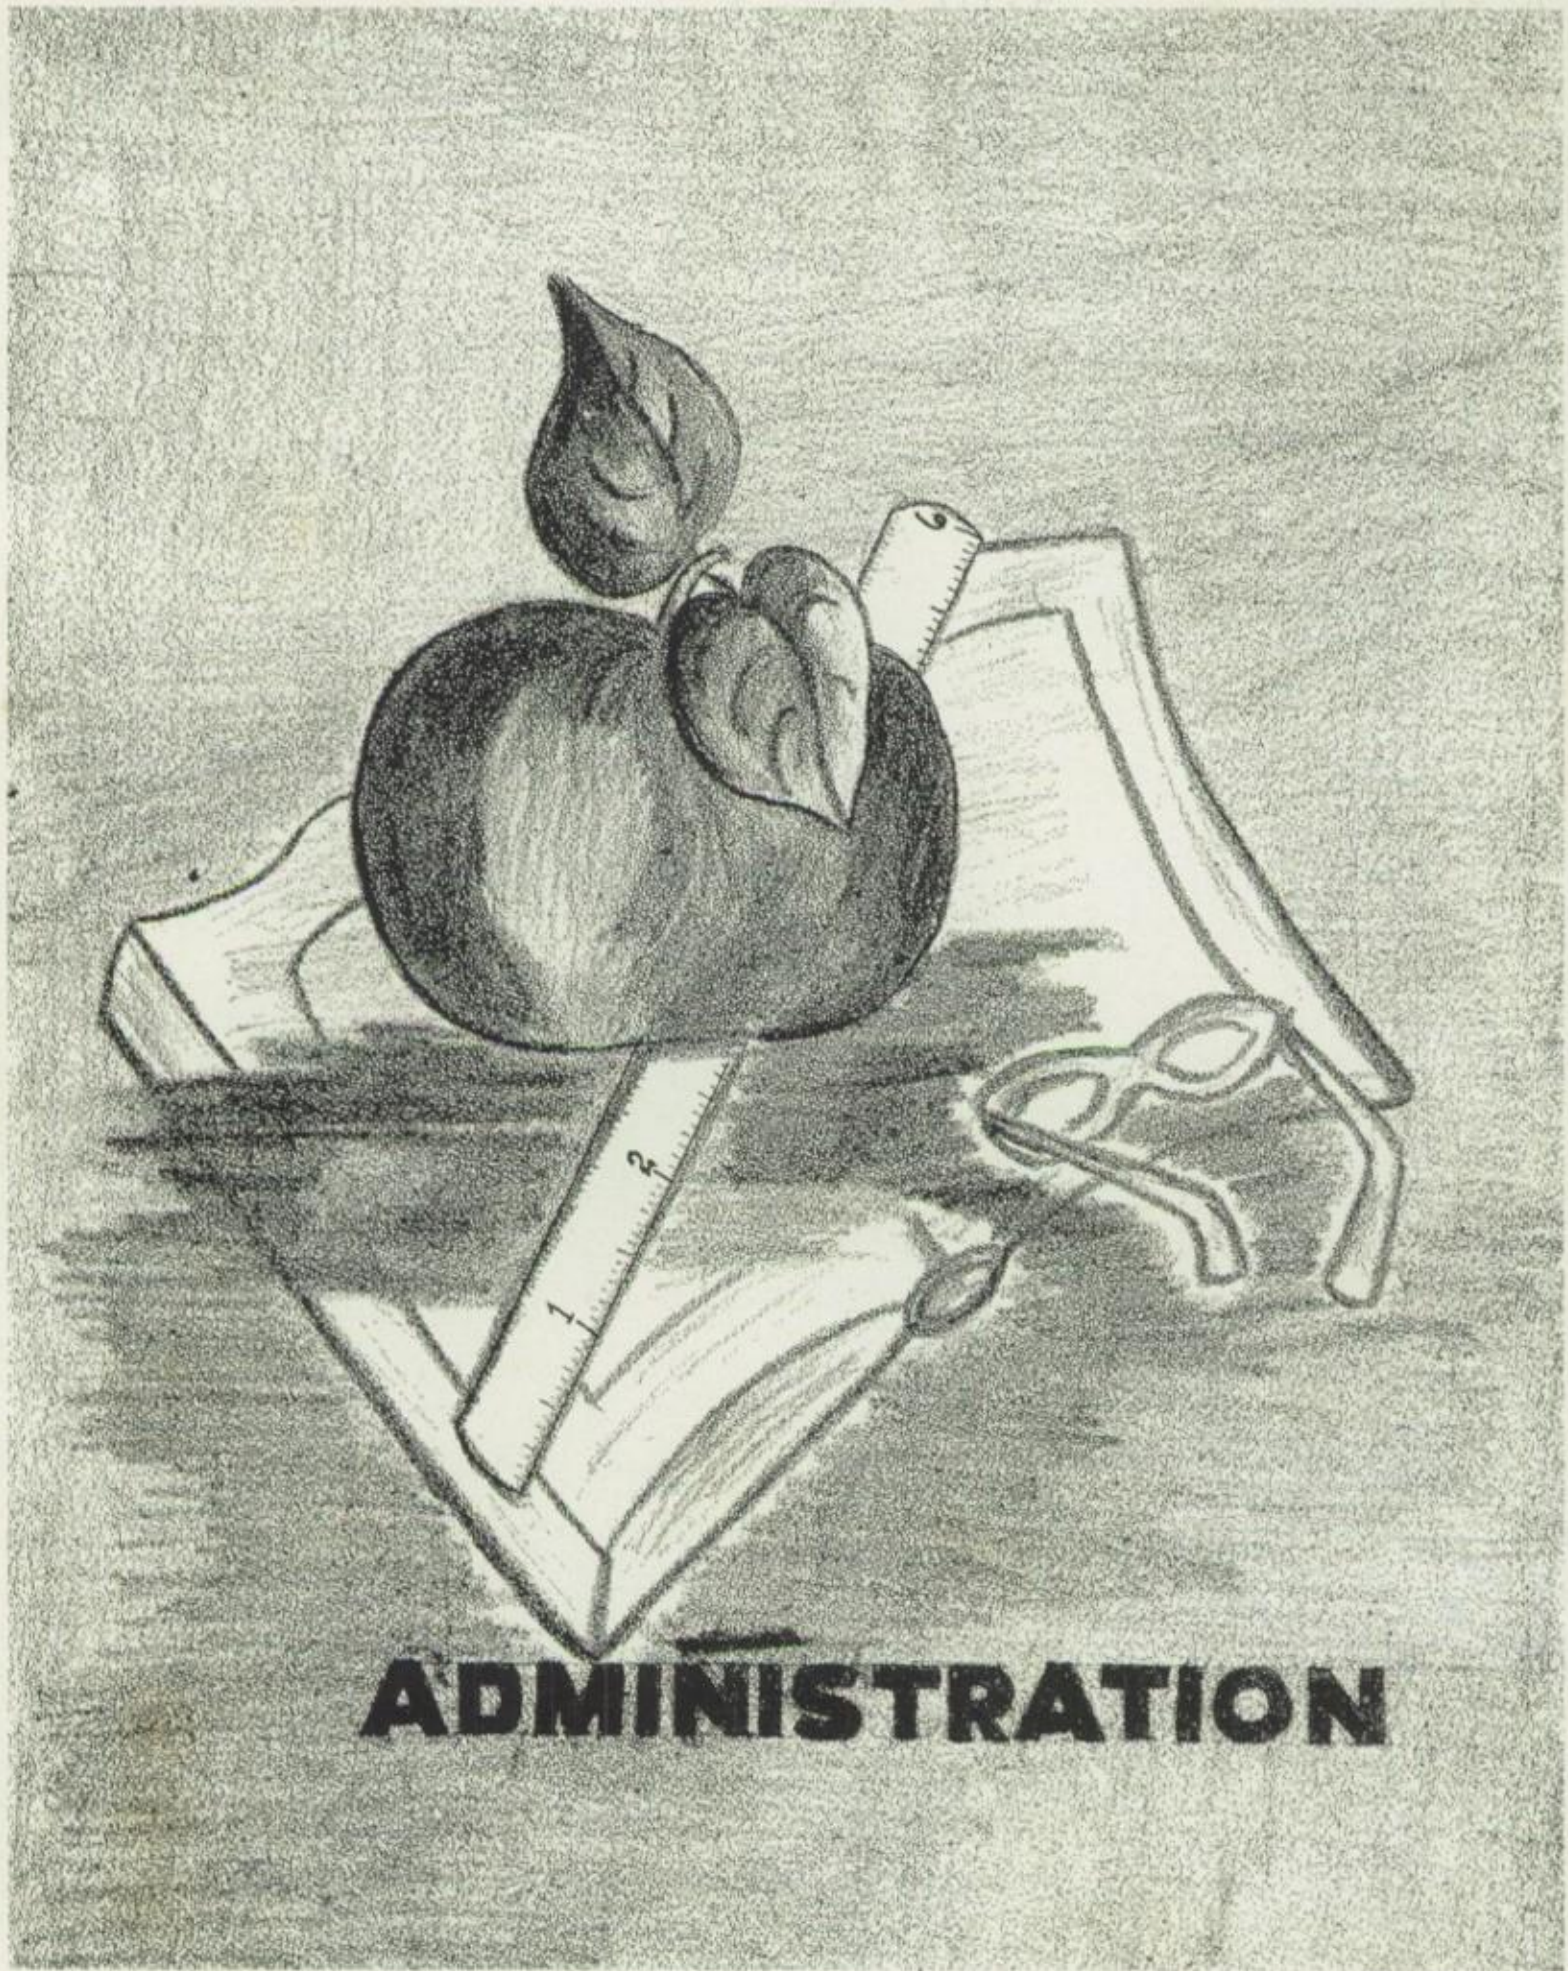

Because, though usually without recognition, she was a vital factor when we presented plays, parades, or social activities . . .

Because her attractive bulletin boards and displays made our halls less drab . . .

Because she gave us a glimpse into that vast and lovely world of art . . .

Because she helped to make our Senior year a beautiful picture of memories . . .

We dedicate this

Class Poem

How oft we thought,
How oft we dreamed of graduation day.
But being very young we deemed
This moment far away.

Yet with the speed
Of fleeing thoughts, days pass and fade away.
A tassel and a flowing robe
Announce Commencement Day.

Now seniors, we
Prepare each day the way that we shall live
And seek from God eternal grace
Which only He can give.

ORCHARD HORD,

Class Song

(Tune: "When Day Is Done")

Since June has come
And high school's done,
We'll dream of you—
The thrilling fun we've had here
For six years through,
The teachers, the classes; they've meant so much to us.
We hope that you Juniors will keep them in your loving trust!

When next year comes,
And we find we won't be here,
Remember us, good luck; farewells are nigh.
We'll miss the fun, we'll miss the work,
We'll miss companions dear,
But most of all we'll miss our Concord High.

WE MADE HISTORY

PATSY ENNIS
Class Historian

As we, the Senior Class of 1951, look back over the past, we feel that we can compare our past achievements and failures to that of a ship at sea. We are grateful for the guidance we have received from our Captain, Mr. Glenn, and his competent assistants, the faculty. With these leaders at the helm, the rough spots were made smooth, and the fog of doubt and uncertainty that engulfed us was made clear.

We started our voyage as youngsters, carefree and irresponsible. We considered our terms as seventh and eighth graders the "calm before the storm." After smooth sailing during these years, we reached Port la Freshman, where we disembarked from our ship and enrolled at the Hall of Knowledge. We were to encounter branches of this school at every port. We felt honored in a sense because we were allowed to choose our own courses and join the clubs of our choice. Most of the Freshmen were eager to become members of the Dramatics Club, and we all felt a tiny twinge of excitement when our own Pan Players entered into competition with the other three classes and presented for our entertainment, "Peace! It's Wonderful!" There was a sense of newness and bewilderment about our class that began to wear off after we had learned to fit in with the other classes. Graduation then was so far in the future that it was only a vague dream, but we were glad that, at the end of the year, we had earned credits that pushed us on toward that mark. After nine months of training we again boarded our old ship, "Concord High," and set sail for Sophomore Coast. We found that the seas were not as placid as before, but the days were filled with vivacious activity. We cast our anchor at Sophomore Coast and continued our studies at this branch of schooling. Several members of our class were prominent in their separate fields of endeavor. We boasted of Martin Jordan, who was elected to the position of Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Council. Our dignified debaters, Millie Cline and Roy Davis, won our admiration with their oratory that took them to the District Semi-Finals. For the first time letter-girls were chosen to precede the school band, and the Sophomores, Betty Sue White, Lael Corzine, and Joy Strawn, stood out among them. The Sophomore girls were victorious winners in the class basketball tournament, and our Pan Players again displayed their talent in the hilarious comedy, "Shock of His Life."

It was with a serious, thoughtful attitude that a group of young teen-agers, more settled than before, docked at Junior Harbor. Our destination, Graduation, stood out very vividly against a background of English, history, math, and French. Officers were set before us for leadership. We were under the capable direction of Co-Captain, Phil Haywood; First Mate, Luther Barnhardt; Second Mate, Millie Cline; and Third Mate, Lael Corzine. Phoebe Barnhardt and Roy

Davis were elected to shoulder the responsibilities that accompany the office of Vice President of the Student Organization, and Phoebe was chosen to represent our school as Queen in the Christmas parade. For their outstanding service, leadership, scholarship, and character, Orchard Hord, Martin Jordan, Roy Davis, and Luther and Phoebe Barnhardt were installed in an impressive ceremony into the National Honor Society. Scholastic crowns of honor were placed upon the heads of Luther Barnhardt and Betty Sue White, Chief Marshals, who participated in the commencement exercises. It was then that we realized that our own graduation was strangely near. Our happy Junior days were dimmed, and our chagrin, obvious when we learned that no Junior-Senior Prom would be held that year. We were to miss the exciting thrills of orchids, formals, tux, and orchestra music; however, the Juniors were not to be defeated. Some of them sailed for a week's vacation on the sunny beaches of Florida, free from books and study. Ethel Buckner, Joann Carson, Nick Peck, Orchard Hord, and Roy Davis were introduced as dramatic stars to the student body in their production of "The Ugly Duckling." We left this Harbor anticipating our last year of high school.

Cape Senior, at last! Our destination was now only an arm's length away. We were caught up in a whirl of activity—the thrill of the feel of our new class rings, the ordering of invitations, academic gowns and mortarboards, and the choosing of mascots. New officers were elected to replace the old: Luther Barnhardt, Co-Captain, and Joann Carson, Millie Cline, and C. D. Sides; First, Second, and Third Mates, respectively. Jean Robinson was elected by the student body to serve as Chief Cheerleader, and Martha Faggart and Martin Jordan worked diligently as Editor and Business Manager, respectively, of THE SPIDER WEB. Joann Carson graced the Concord Christmas parade as Queen of our school. Our class took on the dignity of Seniors. No longer did we have a higher class to look to. We felt that we had reached the very peak of perfection; our dreams were now a reality. The diploma that we had long coveted was soon to be ours.

We have reached the end of our voyage. Ultimate success is ours, and from this experience we have gained immeasurable value. Dances, exams, sports, band—all these go together to comprise one great big perpetual memory!

Tonight is the big night for us. The year is 2021 and we are awaiting final orders from the Man In The Moon prior to our departure for Earth. (We are two inhabitants of the Moon, in case you are wondering!) It seems that the 1951 class of Concord High School, Concord, North Carolina, U. S. A., is having their seventieth class reunion tonight in Sauvain Auditorium. Wishing to acquire a little more down-to-earth knowledge, we have decided to attend this celebration. Won't you join us?

Ah, here we are already on the moonlit campus. Guess we'd better adjust our radar-equipped helmets and duck behind one of the trees so that we can detect every movement and let any loose news waves seep into our shock absorbers.

Joan Hagler has brought along several of her models and former classmates to add glamour to the occasion. They are Jane Matthews, Carol McMahan, Doris Almond, and Joann Carson.

Carolyn McEachern, well known stock car enthusiast, is speeding up the driveway with her newest prospect for the big Roberta Race—Jerry Jarvis, driver of the famous No. 2/3.

Eury's Extraordinary Extermination seems to be well represented tonight. Besides President Marvin, three of his loyal workers, Bill Little, Kay Davis, and Alex Helms, are also present.

Ethel Buckner and Betty Sue White, two of the country's best known French instructors, are conversing with former classmate Roy Davis, who is now Mayor of the New Orleans French Colony.

Ray Causby is now owner of Smilin' Ray's Mortuary. As faithful grave diggers first class, he has employed Ralph Drye and Sonny Morgan.

Betty McDaniel and Edith McLester are managers of rival theaters in Siam. Also in the entertaining business are Billie Biggers and Aileen Ballard, who are co-owners of the "Oasis," a night club located in Siberia.

Carolyn Duncan's School for Secretaries abounds in capable assistants. Among them are Miriam Seymour, Patsy Ennis, Mary Ann Frye, and Betty Joe Phillips.

Among the athletes present tonight are Roy Long and Ken Kellough, who are playing badminton with the Chant Chant Prison Guards; Bill McEachern, prosperous ski instructor in the Arabian desert; Richard Simpson, coach and playing shortstop of Cook's Crossing Junior Legion Team; Pat and Tee Barnhardt and their manager, Millie Cline, of the Twin Tornadoes Basketball Team; and John Barbee—five day member of a six day roller derby event. Perhaps not featured on the sports page but certainly headliners are George Moose and Douglas McNulty, fabulous pole sitters who have come down from their perches long enough to attend this joyous occasion.

We also see that the reunion is honored by the famous movie star, "Hollywood" Bert Wellman, who is here to celebrate the premiere of his latest picture "Old Black Joe."

The speaker for tonight's reunion and former Senior Class president is Luther Barnhardt, who is now the singing President of the U. S. Accompanying him on the piano is his secretary and White House receptionist, Jeannette Wensil and his twin sister, Phoebe Barnhardt, who is now a Democratic Congresswoman.

A great program of entertainment has been arranged by Lael Corzine, famous for her Broadway productions. On the program are: Ann Lyerly, renowned soprano, and Betty Hay, alto, both of McGraw's (Thad) Grand Old Opry; Marilu Peck and Flora Furr—concert pianists with Cecilia Barnhardt's all-girl orchestra; and the Tempo Three Trio—Torbert Brewer, Robert Carriker, and Robert Barnhardt. (Incidentally, "Oct" Bost is the fourth member of this trio.) Also appearing on the bill tonight will be that ridiculously funny comedy team—Jerry Rogers and Arnie Efird. The feature of the program, however, will be Louis Black and his magic violin.

For the more serious side of the program, H. C. Newton has been asked to speak on his famous Newton's Theory of Australian Math. Peggy Blanchard and Phyllis Nations, good will delegates to Kannapolis, N. C., are to relate some of their latest experiences, while Miriam Cook and Barbara Shepherd are slated to speak on "How Not To Be a Book-worm."

It appears that the class of '51 has its share of prosperous businessmen. Take for instance Dale Rowe, who is now head of the Siberian Television Enterprises, and Nick Peck, who, during daylight hours, sells fruits and vegetables to his ardent fans who in turn attend his nightly performances in "Hamlet And Eggs" written by Archibald Haywood.

Wallace Troutman is currently engaged in teaching Don Powers, John Talbert and Mark Goforth how to fly and dust crops at the same time.

Martin Jordan, lawyer, is pleading a case for Jack "Strawberry Blonde" Malcolm, famous boxer and heart breaker. Sitting in (or should we say swooning in) on the jury are Marlene Bost, Jean Robinson, Anne Dees, Betty Armstrong, Carolyn Long, and Nancy Petty.

Mary Dawn Hopkins is currently the owner of the midget autos at Daytona Beach, Florida where Carl Furr and Bobby Gandy are life-guards.

Orchard Hord and Joy Strawn have just completed plans for setting up an Alpha Theta Sorority at Davidson and Carolina respectively.

Mack Long, popular T. V. comedian, is currently packing them in at the Stork Club with his latest song, "I'm Glad I Made You Cry, Baby; Your Face is Cleaner Now."

The class's two natural redheads—Pat Williams and Barbara Irvin—are the titian haired models for the ads sponsored by Tintair. Also employed by this agency are Martha Shoe and Charlotte Mabbette—both blondes.

Late arrivals to the reunion are Gene Andrews, publisher of the Roberta Review, and David Sides, chief canoe patcher and paddling instructor of the Shawnee Indian Tribe.

Yes, Martha Faggart has succeeded! For her tireless research for the answer to "The Thing," she has been awarded the Nobel Peace Award. Since she has admitted being "It" we feel sure there will be peace of mind.

Authors abounded in the class of 1951. Present tonight are Millicent Cooper, Audrey Coley, and Helen Williams, who were co-workers on the Pulitzer Prize winning book, "Talking—It's Easy." Also attending tonight's celebration are the following talented writers: Betty Poplin, Betty Sue Alexander, Betty Dorton, and Geraldine Garmon, each of whom have written books on "How To Get Along With Men."

Writers of the newspaper world present tonight include Becky Calloway, only female sports writer in the United States, who writes for the Boston Red Sox. (Why did she change over from the Yankees?) Cora Mae Penninger, Pat Simpson, and Nancy Misenheimer are social reporters for the Alaskan Newspaper Enterprises. Of course everyone will be able to read all about this reunion in the syndicated gossip column, "Between You and Me," edited by Dean Plott in the local newspaper.

Sorry, but that Hadacol-powered, supersonic, interplanetary rocket is about ready to take off for the Moon again. We still have a curfew as we're only seventy years young up there!

Your two lunar-ticks,

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

PHIL HAYWOOD
ETHEL BUCKNER
Class Testators

SECTION I

ARTICLE I—We, the Senior Class of 1951, being of sound mind and body, do hereby declare this our last will and testament.

ARTICLE II—To the faculty of Concord High School, we leave our deepest respect and sincere gratitude. Their able guidance and kind understanding have made a deep and everlasting impression upon each of us.

ARTICLE III—To old C.H.S., we leave our thanks for the pleasant memories of joyful days spent within its hallowed halls.

SECTION II

I, Robert Barnhardt, leave my way with the women to Richard Savage.

I, Jerry Jarvis, leave my curly locks to Lewis Thomason.

I, Roy Davis, leave my southern accent to Lee Chaney.

I, Bobby Gandy, leave my flirtatious ways to Dan Brown.

I, Luther Barnhardt, leave my bowling ability to Bill Cochran.

I, Kenneth Kellough, leave my friendly smile to Gene McLain.

I, Audrey Coley, leave my typing ability to Margaret Lowder, who may need a little to tide her over.

I, Cecilia Barnhardt leave my cymbals and a pair of worn out eardrums to the long-suffering band.

I, Nick Peck, leave my acting ability to Violet Ruth Puckett.

I, Doris Almond, leave my love of skating to Darlene Moore.

We, Betty Sue White and Thad McGraw, leave our friendliness to Mary Ann Hoover and Rob Bost, respectively.

I, Mack Long, leave my wit to Norris "Ding-Dong" Bell.

We, Jean Robinson and Carol McMahan, leave our school spirit to next year's cheerleaders.

I, John Barbee, leave my cornet to Garren Tate.

We, Carolyn Long and Millicent Cooper, do will our attitude of reserve to Sarah Talley and Jane Whitener, who surely do need it.

We, George Moose and Aileen Ballard, leave our height to Donald Hopkins and Sybil Burleyson, respectively.

I, Carolyn Duncan, do bequeath my friendly jokes to Gail Carson.

I, Sonny Morgan, leave my quiet ways to Bede Bob Sasser, who could use a little of it.

I, Ray Eury, do will my draft number 31-13-31-280 to Joe Warlick, who, I hope, will enjoy it more than I did.

I, Phoebe Barnhardt, leave the student body in the capable hands of Janis Vaughn.

I, John Talbert, leave my love of chemistry to Ann Dove Propst.

I, Becky Calloway, leave my originality to Tully Newton.

I, Joann "Jo-Jo" Carson, leave my thoughtfulness and my personality to Sally Scott.

I, Miriam "Mici" Cook, leave my spirit of co-operation to June Freeze.

I, Orchard Hord, leave my ability to make A's in French to Anne Misenheimer.

We, Patricia and Theresa Barnhardt, leave our love for sports to Helen Melchor and Peggy Puckett.

I, Nancy Petty, do hereby will my extensive writing vocabulary to Barbara Frye.

I, Joy Strawn, leave my attractiveness to Phyllis Aycock.

I, Jane Matthews, leave my dignity to Betty Dry who could use some of it.

I, Carolyn (Keachie) McEachern, leave my way with the boys to Peggy Cagle.

I, Louis Black, leave my bashfulness to Ken Mills.

I, Phil (Archie) Haywood, leave my wisecracks and sweetness to anyone else who can combine the two.

I, Arnie Efird, leave my laugh to my sister, Sue.

I, Ann Dees, leave my pretty hair to Betty Jean Jones.

I, Ann Lyerly, leave my voice to Judson Faggart.

I, Mary Dawn Hopkins, leave my sweet disposition to Patsy McGraw.

I, Millie (s'l little but I loud) Cline, leave my baby talk to Betty Ruth Kluttz.

I, Ethel Buckner, do bequeath my studious ways and sparkling eyes to my sister, Iris.

We, Jeanette Wensil and Torbert Brewer, leave our neatness to Viola Carriker and Cecil Holmes.

I, Mark Goforth, leave my studiousness to Phil Penninger.

I, Barbara Irvin, leave my freckles to Claudette Cochran.

I, Marilu Peck, leave my ability at a piano to Betty Caton.

I, Carl (Choo-Choo) Furr, leave my love of football to Bill Campion.

I, David Sides, leave my habit of asking questions to my brother, Henry.

I, Miriam Seymour, leave my love of C.H.S. to my brother, Howard.

I, Wallace Troutman, leave my inquisitive attitude to Gerald Talbert.

We, Don Powers, Kay Davis, and Douglas McAnulty, leave our morning greetings to the Juniors who appreciate the friendly atmosphere we Seniors create.

We, Martin Jordan and Martha Faggart, leave the worries of the Annual to next year's staff.

I, Dale Rowe, leave my persistent nature to Jimmy Kluttz.

I, Betty Jo Phillips, leave my saxophone to Larry Sides.

We, Marvin Eury and Herbert Wellman, leave our incessant chatter to James Cline and Roy Christenbury.

I, Bill McEachern, leave my basketball ability to Jerry Kennerly.

I, Eugene Andrews, leave my parking place in the back of the school to the teachers who cannot seem to find enough parking space.

I, Phyllis Nations, leave my neat handwriting to the typing class.

I, Lael Corzine, leave my vivaciousness to Margaret Ann Drye.

I, Peggy (Huh?) Blanchard, leave my bewildered expression to the French classes, which seem to know how to use it.

I, Nancy Misenheimer, leave my pretty eyes to Ola Mae Greene.

We, Martha Shoe and Helen Williams, leave our kindness and pleasant nature to Catherine Griffin and Katherine Gresham.

I, Flora Furr, leave my musical talents to Nancy Lee Mills.

We, Robert Carriker and Jerry Rogers, bequeath our bookkeeping books to next year's students in this subject.

We, H. C. Newton and Ralph Drye, leave our good looks to Jerry Smith and James Stone.

I, Jack Malcolm, leave my charm to Bill Long.

I, Roy Long, leave my indifferent attitude to anyone who can afford it.

I, Richard Simpson, leave my knack for English grammar to Larry Sedberry.

I, Bill Little, leave my friendly flirtations to Charles Stimson.

I, Betty Armstrong, bequeath my fair complexion to Ruth Nance.

We, Pat Simpson and Cora Mae Penninger, leave our sense of humor to Carolyn Collins.

I, Patsy Ennis, leave my ability to make the honor roll to Barbara—just to keep it in the family.

I, Gene Meadows, leave my luck to Buddy Mills.

I, Joan Hagler, leave my neat appearance to Pansy Faggart.

I, Betty Jean (The Bouncer) Hay, bequeath my way of walking to Eugene Bost.

We, Marlene Bost and Billie Biggers, leave our ear for gossip to Mary Ann Thornburg and Sarah Sapp.

I, Dean Plott, leave my gown and cap, which has suddenly grown too small, to Sara Murr.

I, Betty Dorton, leave my long tresses to Katie Peigler.

I, Mary Ann Frye, leave my six years experience at C.H.S. to my brother, Charles.

We, Betty Poplin and Betty Sue Alexander, leave our happiness and laughter to the Jolly Juniors.

I, Geraldine Garmon, leave my amiable personality to Annie Suther.

I, Alex Helms, leave my honesty to Danny Baker.

I, Patsy Williams, leave all my pleasures to anyone who will take time.

I, Barbara Shepard, leave my artistic nature to Preston Faggart in the hope that he will treat it kindly.

We, Betty Lou McDaniels and Edith McLester, leave our well worn text books to the rising Senior Class.

SALUTATORY

BETTY SUE WHITE

We, the graduating class of 1951, deem it an honor to have each and every one of you here as guests at our commencement. You are the friends, relatives, and families who have been responsible for the success and happiness of our days at Concord High. You have helped to make them complete, and we are grateful beyond expression for it. Truly, these memories will be cherished in years to come when others have been forgotten.

Tonight symbolizes the inevitable crossroads in our individual paths of life. The time has come for us to put ourselves to the test and to reap the harvest of our efforts.

For many of us this is the final exit from the halls of learning. We are leaving behind us these glorious days. A poem by Richard Hovey paints a clear picture of it:

"You to the left, and I to the right,
For the ways of men must sever—
And it well may be for a day and a night,
And it well may be forever.
But whether we meet or whether we part
(For our ways are past our knowing)
A pledge from the heart to its fellow heart,
On the ways we all are going!
Here's luck!
For we know not where we are going."

Our responsibility now is to manifest through our lives the benefits of the knowledge that we have accumulated thus far. We must not and will not let it become stagnant and useless, for in that manner we defeat our purpose.

Others of us will follow the path of education using the experiences and associations of high school days as foundations upon which are laid the fruits of our minds to build for the future.

The future extends a beckoning finger in our direction and we must follow. The way may be hard and insecure at times but that is not for us to know. The future may offer doubt, sorrow, hardship, or failure, but with the surpassing of these comes the ultimate goal, success. We shall have lived and we shall have attained only that which is high, noble, worthy, and good.

Again we are proud to extend a heartfelt welcome to you and we only hope that your most sincere blessings and good wishes will follow us after our departure.

BETTY SUE WHITE

VALEDICTORY

LUTHER BARNHARDT, JR.

Charles Dickens said in one of his editorials, "We do not believe in stupidity as a common, natural gift."

I dare say that there have been moments during the past six years when our teachers would have disagreed with Mr. Dickens, but taking everything into consideration, we feel that our periods of intelligence do, in a small degree, outnumber our moments of stupidity. This is due largely to the interest and painstaking efforts of our faculty.

If we have not profited by our educational opportunities the fault is ours, for tonight as we assemble here for the last time, we realize more than ever the advantages that have been ours and the way that "the rugged path of learning has been smoothed for our stumbling feet."

Members of the board of education: On behalf of the Class of 1951, I extend our heartfelt thanks for the educational privileges you have made it possible for us to enjoy. There were times when our holidays could have been longer, but we merely mention that in passing, not reproachfully; and if, in years to come, we prove to be worthy citizens of our great country, we hope you will remember us as a few of the many for whom you laid a foundation of learning, aspiration, and high ideals.

To our superintendent, principal and teachers: Words are sadly inadequate to convey our emotions. Since the day we came to you "eager, ignorant, and just a trifle frightened," you have given liberally of your time, experience and wisdom. You have borne patiently our youthful follies and encouraged whatever latent abilities you may have seen in us.

There is no reward that can adequately compensate teachers for the good they do, but we hope that our grateful thanks may in slight measure show our appreciation and understanding. To you, our teachers, we can only say, paraphrasing the words of Daniel Webster, "If you work upon brass, time will efface it; if you rear temples, they will crumble to dust; but if you work upon immortal minds, if you imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of your fellow men, you engrave on those tablets something that will brighten to all eternity."

Friends of the undergraduate classes, we part from you regretfully. We hope you will miss us sometimes, in the halls and in the class rooms. You who are about to become Seniors and take our empty places must strive to uphold the traditions of the Class of '51. During our days here, we have striven so to conduct ourselves that our Alma Mater shall have benefited in some slight degree by our stay.

Although we may have fallen far short of our attempted goal, at least we have tried; and it is more praiseworthy to have tried and failed than not to have tried at all. Of course, you will not profit by our mistakes, and equally of course, you will not heed our advice, so we shall offer you none.

Members of the Class of 1951: At last we have arrived at a goal which six years ago seemed so immeasurably distant. We feel that we have done well and we are proud of ourselves. True, there were a few occurrences during our scholastic career that we would not boast about; but we have endured all of our school life, liked most of it, and found some of it delightful.

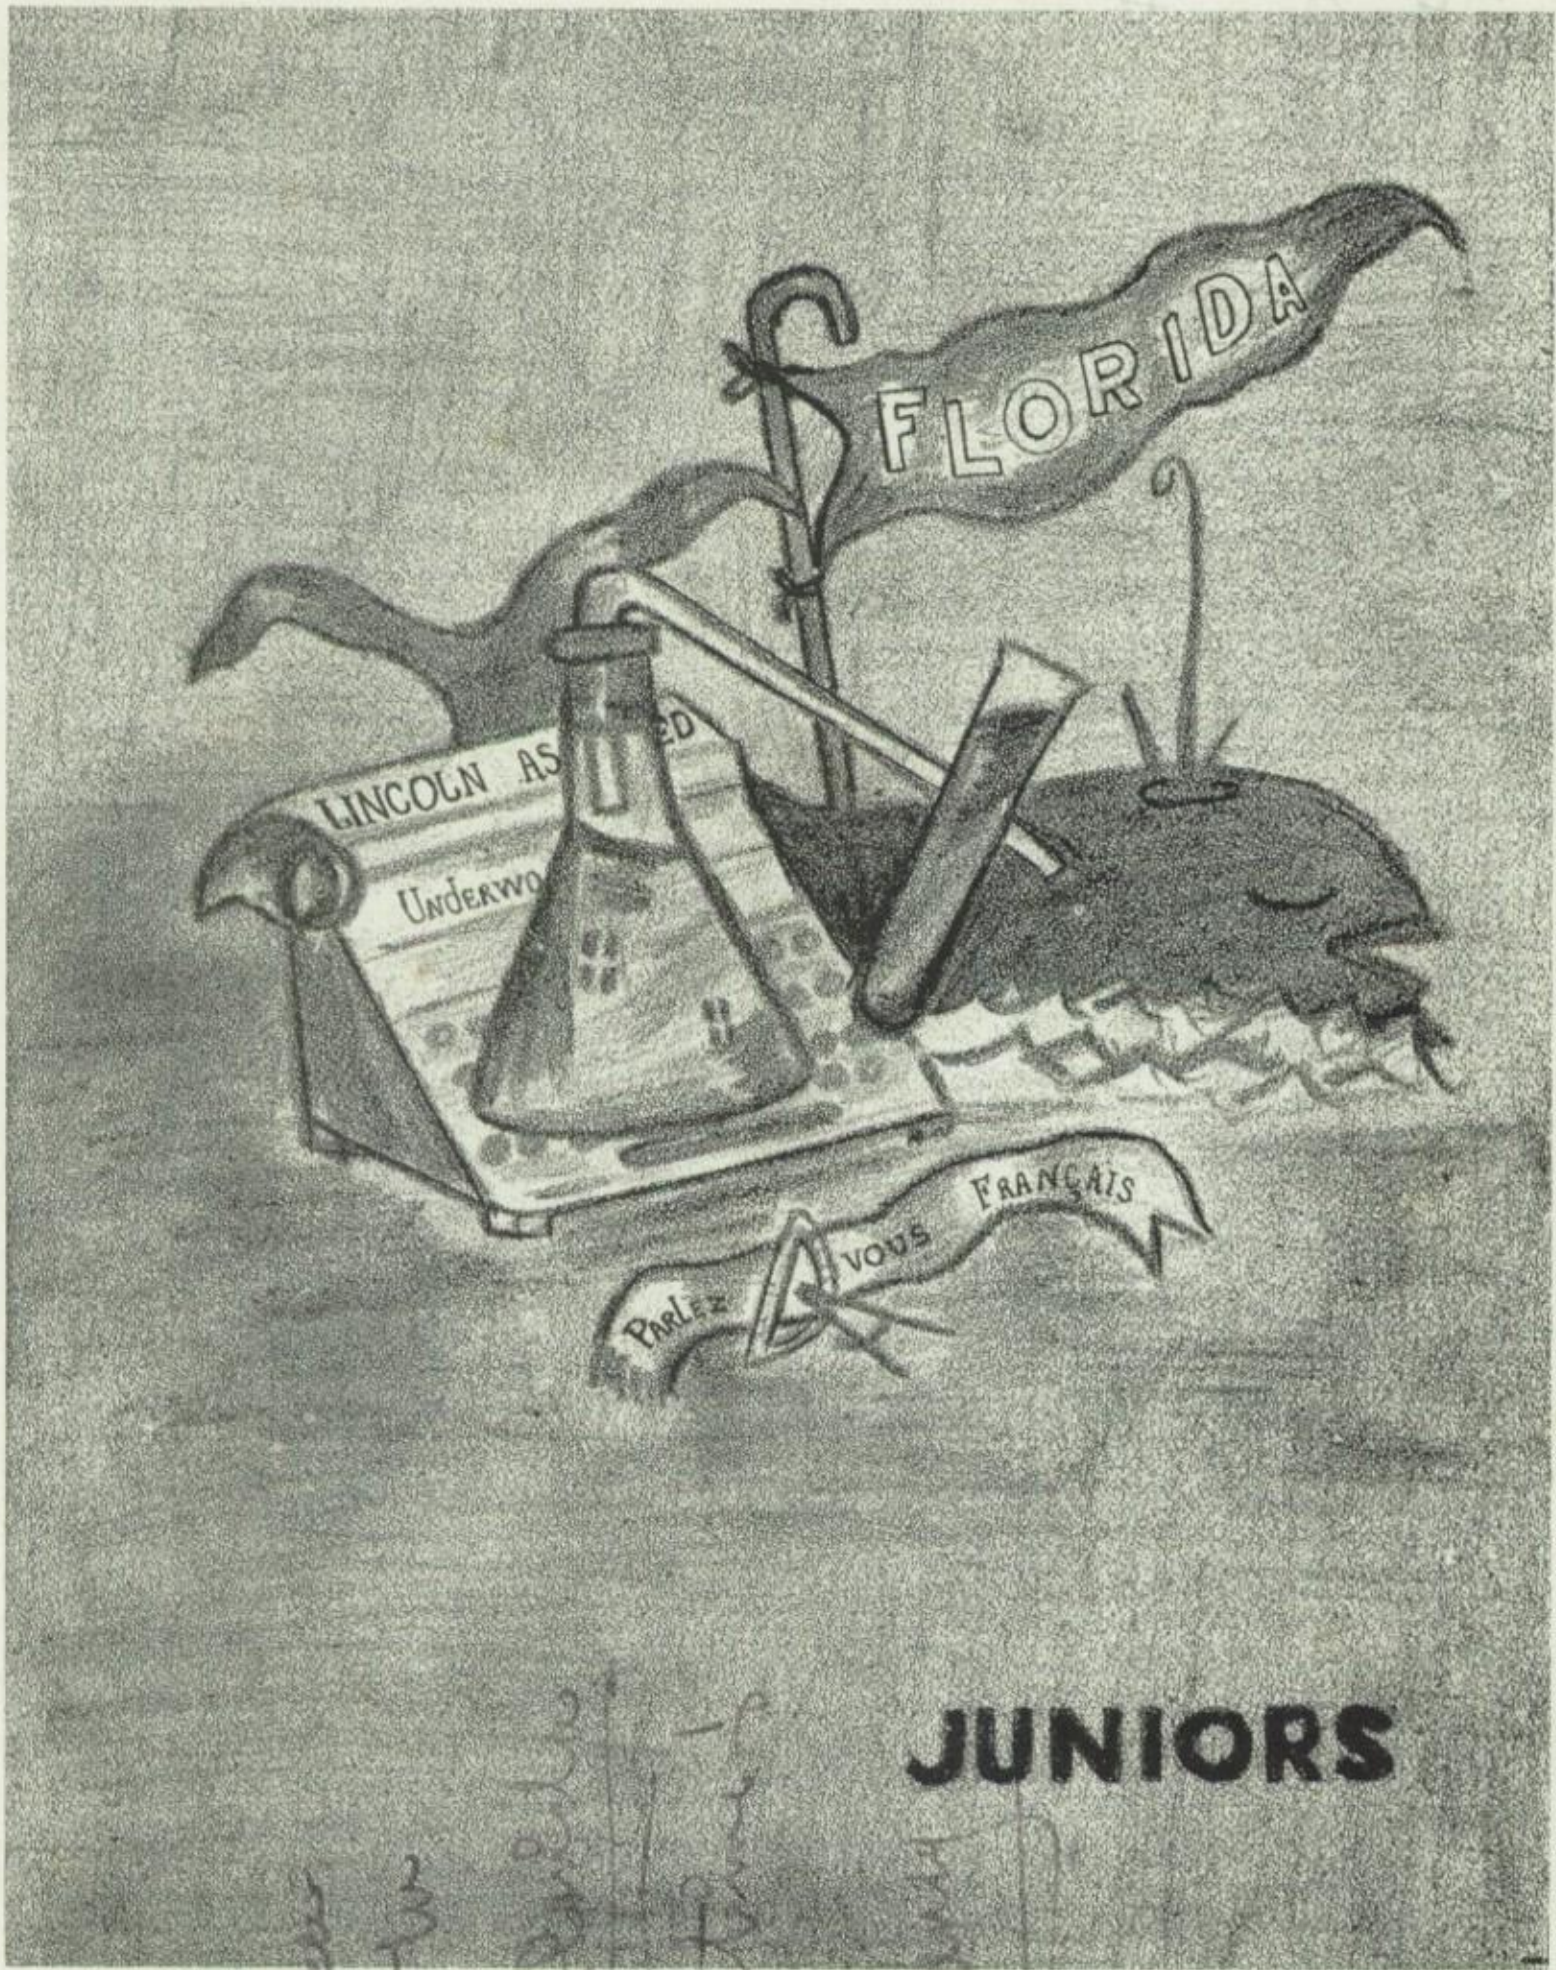

Graduation means a different thing to each of us, but I hope that we will think of it as a means to an end and not the end itself. Graduation marks the beginning of a new experience, either a higher course of study or entering life's school itself with its opportunities and responsibilities.

After tonight each of us will go his own way, but having shared one another's joys and sorrows, success and failures for so long, it is hard for us to say goodbye. Our mutual friendship has been an inspiration and an incentive, which we shall miss in the future. Let us then, instead of saying farewell, keep happy memories of our years together, of the ideals toward which we aspire, and of our High School, of whose noble teachings we would prove worthy.

LUTHER BARNHARDT, JR.

The Junior Class this year sponsored a magazine sale, realizing almost $500 for the class treasury. For the entertainment of the student body, it put on a talent show in the auditorium. The thrill of the year was the trip to Florida made by sixty-four members of the class. The climax of the year came, however, when they knelt and received their caps from the Seniors on Class Day.

MUSIC

The Senior Band, being called upon to play for many activities in the school and community, had a very busy year. Besides performing at all the football games at home and away, the band participated in three Christmas parades and the Shrine Bowl Parade.

The band prepared appropriate music for the Christmas program which was presented to the P.T.A. and the student body, Easter music for the sunrise service at the Central Methodist Church, and our annual concert given at Webb Field.

The band had a full enrollment with good instrumentation. We feel that it contributed greatly to the spirit of our school and community.

JUNIOR BAND

The Junior Band is designed to prepare students for membership in the Senior Band. It affords an opportunity to practice, in more detail, the fundamentals of applied music. The band, this year, was larger than usual; consequently, competition was keener. This, no doubt, has broadened the scope of instrumental music in Concord High.

So we say, "Hats off to the Junior Band—tomorrow's Senior Band!"

The music program, offered at Concord High, has been completely rounded out with the addition of the Strings Class. Enrollment has been encouraging, and no doubt an increasing interest in stringed instruments will expand this phase of the music program in the next few years. The Strings Class is under the direction of Mr. Tritt and will provide a nucleus of players for an orchestra here at Concord High.

CHORUS

MR. GEORGE PECK
Director

The 1950-51 Chorus Class, composed of 79 members has been very active throughout the entire school year. After having completed an enjoyable Christmas program, the group began work on the contest music which they used at the District Music Contest in Salisbury, North Carolina. Various other musical programs were presented during the year, for the entertainment of the community as well as the student body of Concord High School.

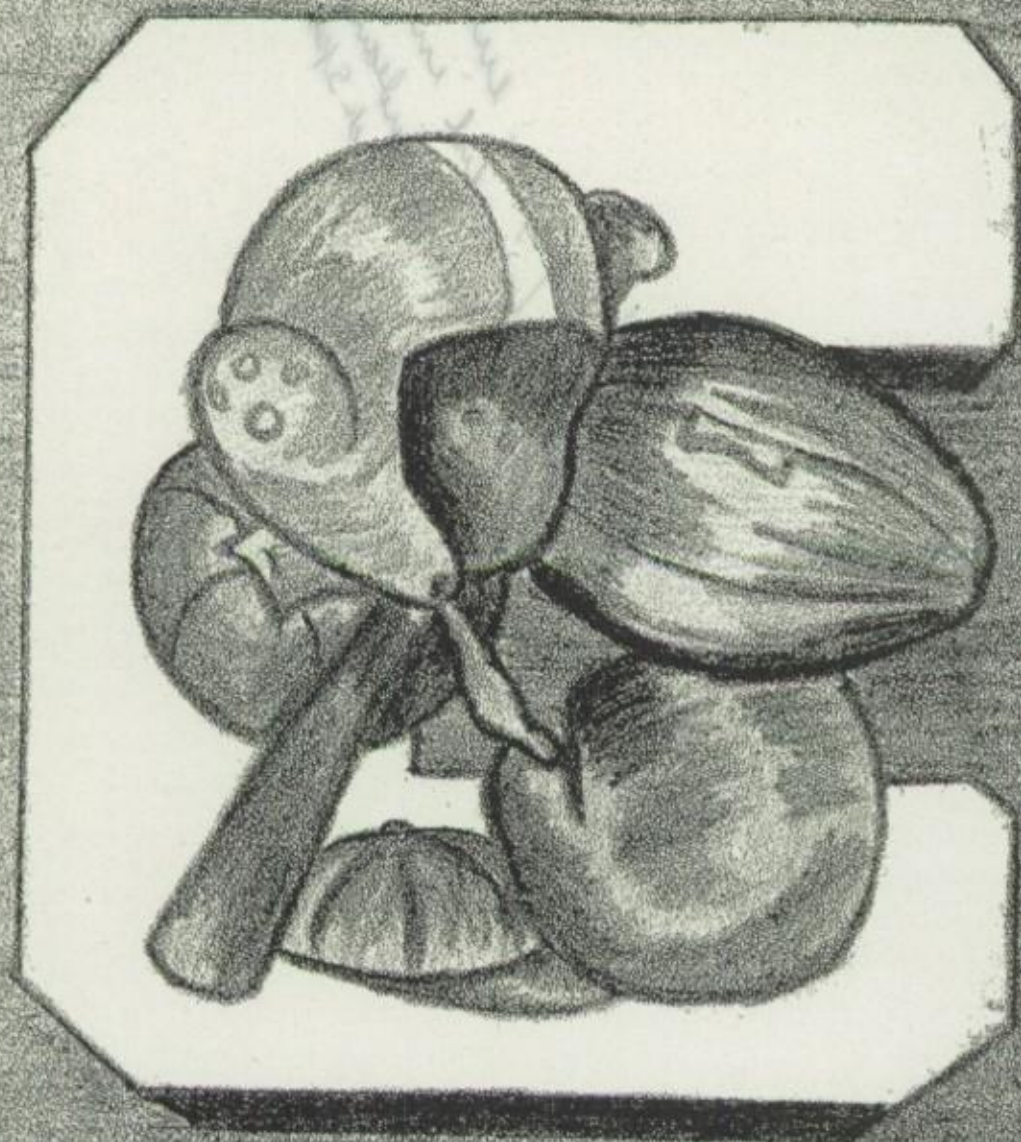

JUNIOR CHORUS

Donna Aycock, Floyd Barnhardt, Janice Bean, Martha Bost, William Boulus, Morrison Brown, Fred Carriker, Steve Causby, Hazel Cook, Claudine Cox, Bill Davis, Phyllis Eudy, Ada Fink, Wayne Haigler, Howard Hammett, Lamarr Hammett, Diana Helms, Betty J. The Junior Chorus, directed by Mr. Tritt, was organized this year to provide choral experience for the increasing number of students enrolled in the Music Department. It has served as a preparatory course, teaching the fundamentals of music and choral techniques to seventh and eighth graders who wish to become members of the Senior Chorus. The chorus presented a concert to the student body this year.

VARSIITY FOOTBALL AT CONCORD

The 1950 Spiders entered the season with thirteen lettermen returning. Coach Austin found much reserve strength from last year's "B" squad. While the offense was weak in scoring power, the defense was able to hold the opposition's scores to a minimum.

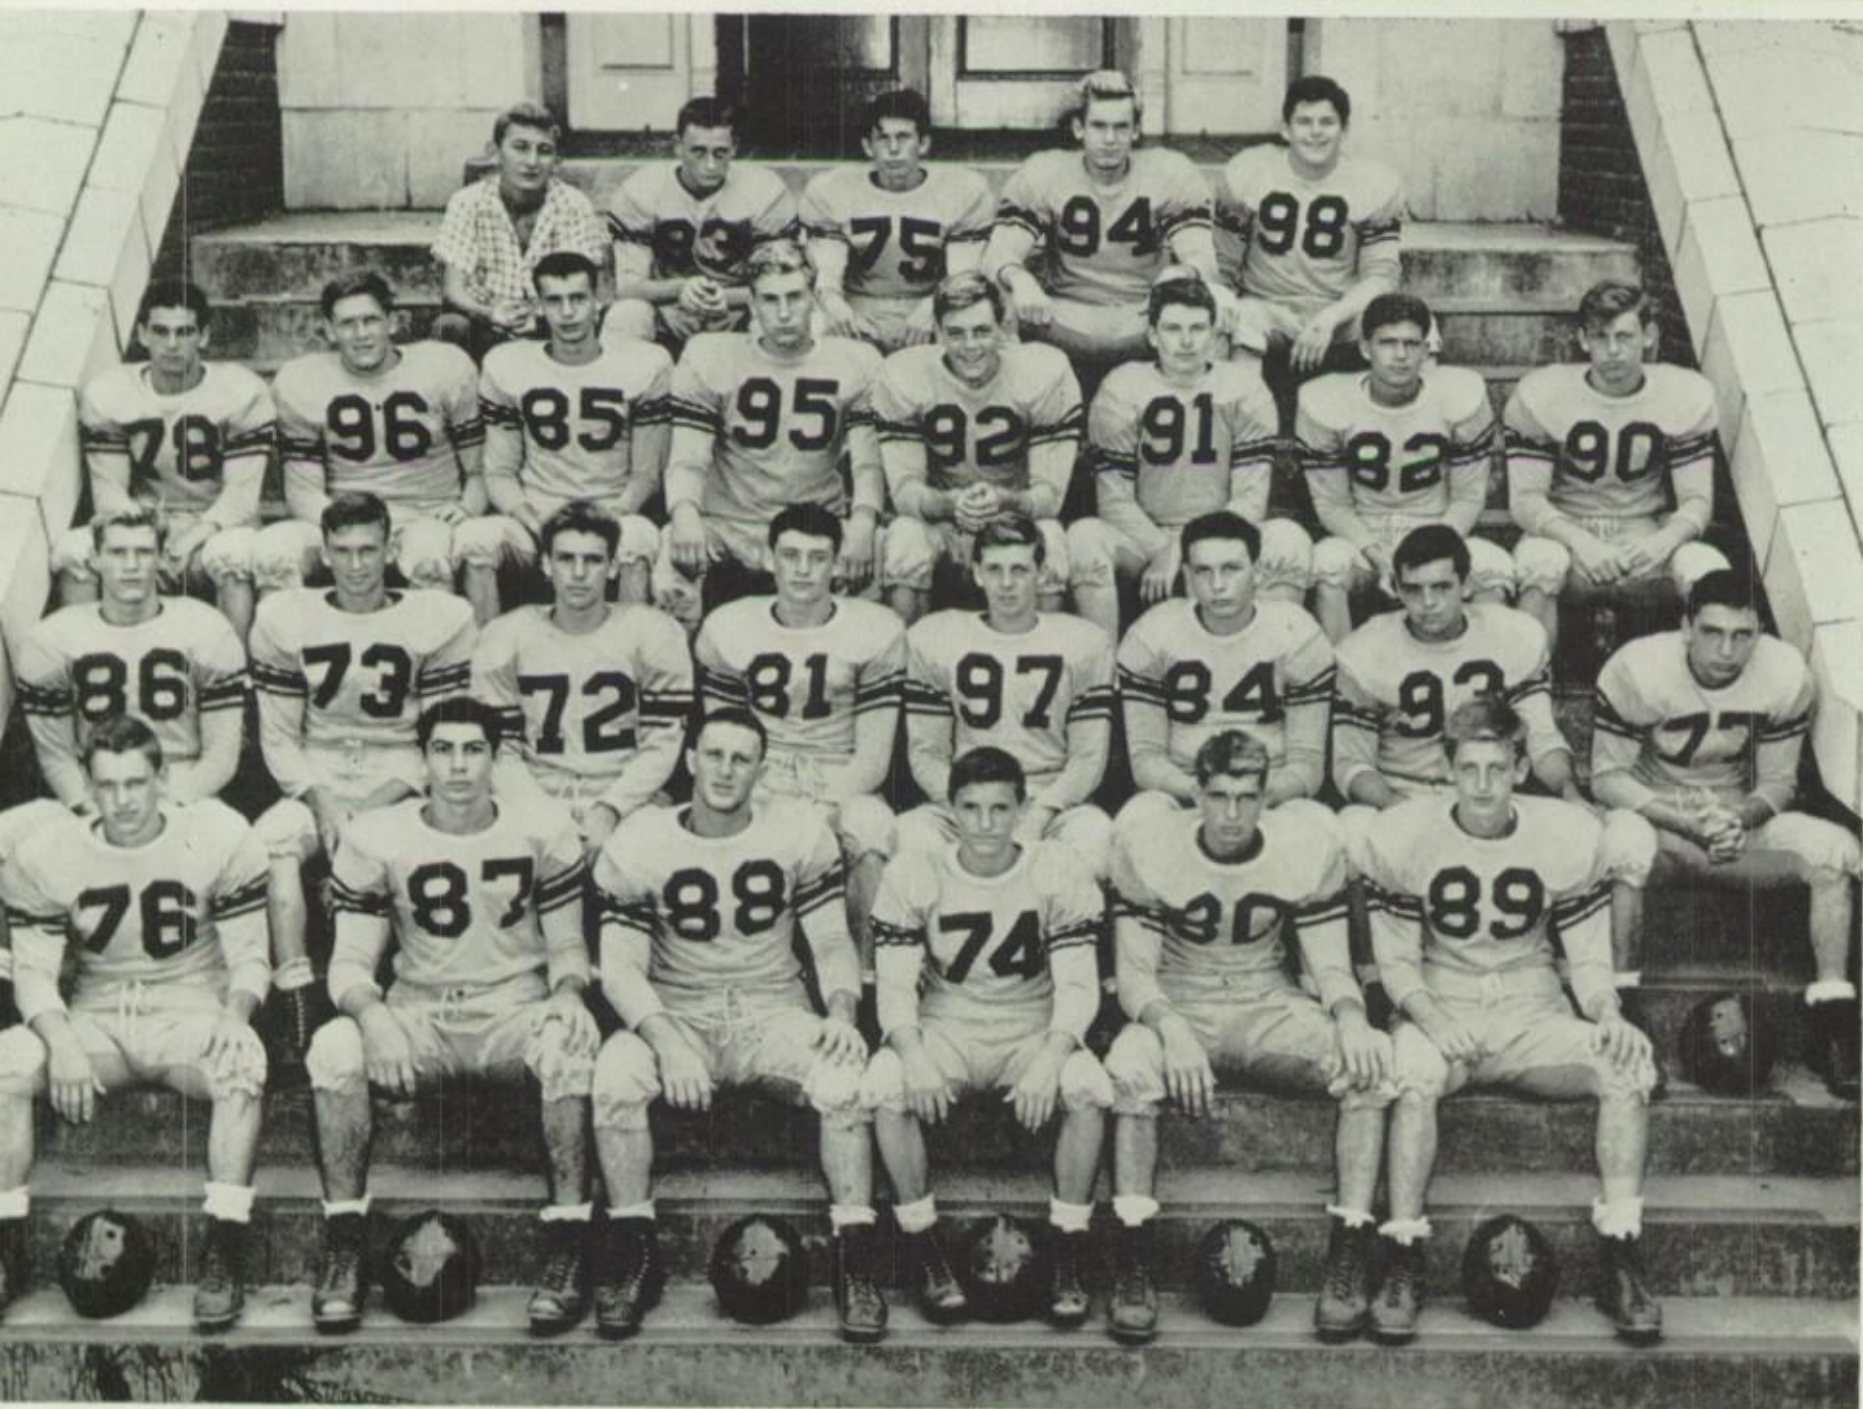

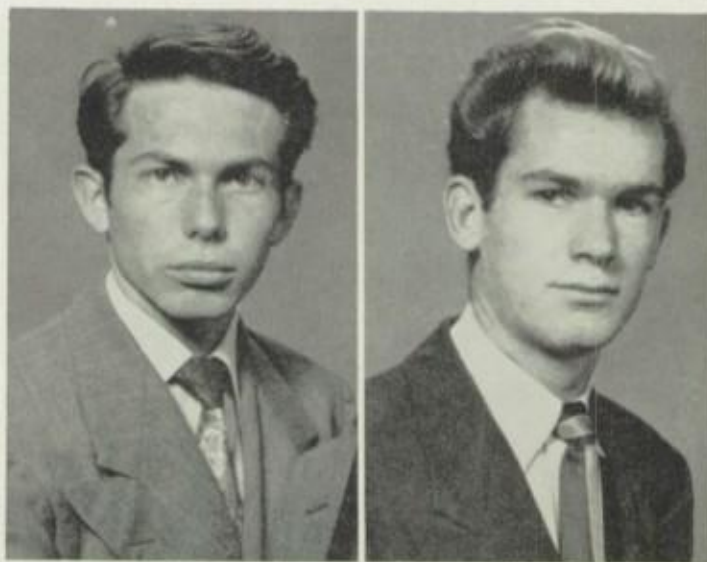

The facts that our arch-rivals, the Little Wonders, were held to a 0-0 tie by the Spiders in the annual "Battle of Cabarrus," and that Roy Thomas won a position on the All-Conference Team because of his outstanding work as guard are well worth remembering.

CHEERLEADERS

MISS LAURA JEAN NEWELL
Sponsor

Frances Irvin, Sue Mauney, Cecil Holmes, Jean Robinson (Chief) Carol McMahan (Assistant Chief) Gail Carson, Wynoma Fink, and Melonie McGeorge, Mascot.

It is the purpose of the cheerleaders to promote better school spirit and better relations between our school and the visitors during athletic encounters. This year under the able leadership of Jean Robinson the cheerleaders have proved that they are assets to our school life. To the cheerleading staff this year was added an attraction in the form of a mascot, Melonie McGeorge, who appeared at many athletic activities. In addition to the regular cheerleader duties, they aided the Student Assembly with the Concord-Kannapolis Dance and Sponsor's night.

BASEBALL

The Spiders had a very successful season last year, and this year's team must have exceptional power to match and exceed the 1950 record. Players from last year's team, Rob Bost, Richard Simpson, and Jerry Smith will furnish that needed core about which Coach Austin will build. Although many old faces on the diamond will be missed, it is believed that the 1951 Spiders will shape into a fine ball club.

BASKETBALL AT CONCORD HI

Realizing at the beginning of the season that the services of last year's five would be greatly missed, Coach Bonner kept trying various combinations on the court until he discovered the most effective one. He found the secret to the control of the backboard by putting Bill McEachern in the forward position assisted by Jerry Smith as center, and completed the team with fast moving A. W. Widenhouse, Gerald Dick, and Phil Penninger. The break into the winning column was difficult, but soon the Spiders' talents were mustered, and their offensive drive began to have more and more spark and to pay off in points. Vital factors, teamwork and experience, were gained to begin building a strong team for next year.

The 1950-51 Spiderettes, under the leadership of Coach Austin, turned in many thrilling games with their fast, determined ball playing. Not only was the team sparked by five returning lettermen, but they were given more reserve power through the services of last year's B-Squad.

With the discovery of Sybil Burleyson as a starting forward, along with the able services of Sally Scott and Tee Barnhardt, the Spiderettes soon developed an unexcelled scoring trio. Lael Corzine, Mickie Cook, and Patricia Barnhardt shared the limelight in the guard positions.

Showing improvement over records set last year, the girls wound up the season with many wins and few defeats.

Second Row: Maxine Carterett, Johnnie Fae Stewart, Betty Rose Irvin, Peggy Lowder, Shirley Carter, Claudine Cox, Tempe Thomason, Martha Gray.

EXTRA CURRICULAR

STUDENT ORGANIZATION

The Student Organization is made up of two bodies, the Student Council and the Student Assembly. These organizations are the link between the students and teachers.

During the past year the Assembly has sponsored many dances. Its main efforts have been to establish better public relations among the schools in this area and to achieve greater participation of the students in social and athletic events. Clean-up week, publication of the school handbook, The Web, the Kannapolis-Concord Dance, and a successful Sponsor's night for the football team were also sponsored.

The Student Assembly is trying to build a good school and to hold high the democratic ideal that it represents.

JOURNALISM CLUB

The Journalism Club was organized at Concord High School in 1939 with the purpose of publishing a newspaper, encouraging creative ability, and giving training to those interested in newspaper work. The Weavings, the school paper, was begun by the class of 1931. This year, under the direction of Mrs. Tharrington, the club has displayed enthusiastic efforts in producing this six-page newspaper every two weeks.

FORENSIC CLUB

The purpose of the Forensic Club is to stimulate interest and excellence in all types of oral expression. The club offers opportunities in debating, oratory, informal speaking, and literary interpretation.

Forensic Club speakers frequently appear before Concord High School and Concord audiences as well as in intra-school meets and contests all over the state. Students who have shown outstanding ability and service in the field of public speaking are eligible for membership in the honorary organization, the National Forensic League.

The Cafeteria Assistants are students who give their time, energy, and service in order that the routine of the school may go on. The daily preparation of lunch in the cafeteria throughout the school year could not be carried on successfully without these willing workers, whose only glory is left-overs.

During the year the Cafeteria assistants planned and presented programs for the purpose of learning more about proper meals.

The National Forensic League is an honorary organization to recognize outstanding ability in speech.

To become a member of N.F.L. a student must earn twenty points of credit in forensic work, must rank in the upper two-thirds of his class and be elected by a three-fourths vote of members. He must have demonstrated leadership, perseverance and interest in several phases of speech activity.

To provide incentive for continued enthusiasm, advanced degrees are offered: Degree of Honor, 50 points; Degree of Excellence, 100 points; Degree of Distinction, 200 points.

The League emblem is a silver key, jeweled to indicate degree held.

Organized in the fall of 1947 by the Concord Kiwanis Club, the Concord High School Key Club is composed of leaders from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes and is a member of the Key Club International. During the past year the Club planned a high-school directory, sponsored a basketball program, aided a needy family at Christmas, and did numerous service projects for the school and community.

Dear Advertisers:

We, the students of Concord High School, would like to extend to you, our faithful friends, our sincere appreciation for your co-operation in making this book possible. Without your aid we could not have financed our annual. Many of you may think that we do not realize the importance of your aid but actually the support you have given us is noticed and appreciated by us all. Rest assured that this appreciation will be shown from day to day as we patronize your businesses. Rightfully you are the unsung heroes of our annual, THE 1951 SPIDER WEB.

Thank you,

LUTHER AND MARTIN

Thanks—to the fine cooperation of faculty and student body that made
